Missing man: body is found

HANNAH MIRSKY

THE body of a man who went missing last month was found in woodland on Monday evening.

Police were called to an area near Maple Hill in Stoke-by-Clare at 6.15pm that day by a member of the public who reported finding a body.

The body has been identified as a 36-year-old man who went missing from Clare on Wednesday, April 22.

was last seen in the village that morning wearing a dark green jacket, dark trousers, black shoes and was carrying a backpack.

Police issued an appeal for information on Mark's whereabouts last week.

He was described as white, 5ft 11in tall, of slim build, with shoulder-length brown curly hair and a beard.

His death is currently being treated as unexplained.

A post-mortem examination has been carried out, but the death is not being treated as suspicious by the police.

They are now beginning to prepare a file for the coroner, and an inquest will be held into the death.

A delay in identifying the body has been caused by difficulty contacting the deceased's relatives.

Making new friends . . .

THIS is one of five fluffy new arrivals which are making friends with pupils at a school in Haverhill this week.

NEW OWNER: The community centre

Community centre given to church

A COMMUNITY centre in Haverhill has been transferred to a church group by the council.

The Chalkstone Community Centre in the town's Strasbourg Square was transferred to the River of Life Church group yesterday, May 6.

It is part of an ongoing transfer of community centres owned by St Edmundsbury Borough Council to community groups, which was decided upon in 2009.

As it is a community asset transfer and not a sale, the community centre will either have been given away for free, or for £1.

Local resident John Burns has been opposed to the transfer and said the community had not been properly consulted. He said: "My complaints are around the consultation, and the fact that nobody else was offered it."

"Basically they have engineered it so they have not done a consultation themselves."

A council spokesperson said local groups were consulted.

Spring chickens hatch at primary school

TWEET TWEET: The chicks are settling into life at Clements Primary School

Pictures: David Johnson

FIVE chicks have hatched at a Haverhill primary school.

The chicks were incubated for 21 days at Clements Primary School and hatched at the beginning of this week.

The school's reception pupils, aged 4 and 5, have been looking after the new arrivals.

Headteacher of Clements, Caroline Zwierzchowska-Dod, said: "We really wanted an experience that would engage the children's awe and wonder about the world, and it's raised a lot of questions."

She said the pupils had been solving problems to do with looking after the chicks, for example working out they could raise the level of the water in their bowls by adding stones.

The chicks will stay at the school and the reception children will continue to look after them.

They will be kept inside at first, but a hen-house will then be installed outside.

They hope that by the summer, they will be laying eggs, which could be used in the school's kitchen.

The pupils made counters to count the number of days until the chicks hatched.

A live "chick-cam" was installed over the bank holiday weekend so that pupils and their parents could watch and see if any of them hatched early.

Mrs Zwierzchowska-Dod said: "I spent a very sleepless night checking the chick-cam, wondering if anything was going to hatch!"

The eggs and incubator were provided to the school by a Sheffield-based company called Eggucation.

Free solar panels for 2,000 homes

A HOUSING partnership is rolling out a scheme to provide 2,000 homes in St Edmundsbury with free solar energy.

Havebury Housing, which owns 1,715 homes in Haverhill, is converting a third of all the properties it owns to be run by solar power.

They have selected 622 homes for the first stage of the project. They have already been in touch with the residents at these properties, which are being surveyed over the coming months.

The surveys will look at factors such as the angle of the roof, the light in the area and whether there are trees nearby.

Installation of the solar panels on properties thought suitable after the survey will begin on June 12.

The installation will not cost residents anything, as it is part of a new partnership between Havebury, finance company Macquarie Lending, and Keepmoat.

HANNAH MIRSKY

Keepmoat is an organisation which works to provide sustainable community regeneration, housing, and planned and responsive repairs.

The roll-out of the solar panels is fully funded by Macquarie Lending, with no financial contribution at all needed from Havebury or residents in the homes being converted.

Installation of the panels could mean lower energy bills for residents.

Those who live in houses with panels are also advised to make lifestyle changes, such as using appliances one after the other and not leaving them on standby.

Philip Sullivan, director of operations at Havebury said; "This is a very exciting initiative and could potentially offer our residents' great savings on their energy costs."

"Our aim is to ensure that we tackle fuel poverty and keep our residents warm in their homes."

"Not only can we now generate free solar energy, but we can also put energy back into the National Grid for others in the area to utilise."

If you have any questions about the scheme, contact Havebury's customer liaison co-ordinator Lauren Hollands on 01284 722036.

Council may evict travellers if they don't move on today

ON THE MOVE?: Travellers' caravans in the Meadows car park, Haverhill, yesterday

Don't forget to cast your vote

DON'T forget to cast your vote in today's general and local elections.

Polls opened at 7am this morning, and will close at 10pm tonight.

West Suffolk residents have a choice of five MP candidates: UKIP's Julian Flood, Conservative Matthew Hancock, Labour's Michael Jefferys, Green Party's Niall Pettitt and Liberal Democrat Elfreda Tealby-Watson.

Haverhill residents will also be voting in town council and St Edmundsbury Borough Council elections, and electing one councillor to Suffolk County Council.

The new West Suffolk MP will be announced between 3am and 4am tomorrow, and the results of the local elections will be announced throughout the day on Friday.

Go to our website, cambridge-news.co.uk/haverhill, for updates on the election throughout Thursday night and Friday.

If you have any queries about voting, contact the borough council's elections team on 01284 763233 or 01638 719000.

Keep up to date with the latest on this story at haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

RESIDENTS have raised concerns – and a council is considering evictions – after travellers set up caravans in a cinema car park.

The 10 caravans have been in the Meadows car park in Haverhill, near the town's Cineworld, since Monday.

The travellers initially tried to set up their caravans on Haverhill Recreation Ground, where a fair was taking place, but after contact with the police, they agreed to move to the car park.

They are there by agreement with St Edmundsbury Borough Council, which owns the car park, and were expected to move on today. If they do not, the council may evict them.

A borough council spokesman said: "On Monday travellers attempted to pull up on Haverhill Recreation Ground, which was already occupied by the fair.

"The police contacted St Edmundsbury Borough Council to see if the 10 caravans and their vehicles could be temporarily moved to the council-owned Meadows car park on Ehringshausen Way.

"The travellers stated that

they intend to leave on Thursday. The Suffolk County Council Gypsy and Traveller Service and the police are liaising with the group but as a precaution, St Edmundsbury Borough Council is preparing the legal process for eviction."

A Suffolk County Council spokesman said: "We are working closely with the police and local borough authority to effectively deal with this unauthorised gypsy and traveller encampment; ensuring the rights of both the gypsy and traveller and settled community are met."

Town and county councillor Tony Brown said: "They were looking around the local area for somewhere to set up. I think the local council was concerned that they would end up on the green spaces."

"They thought that the best option was to open up the Meadows car park. They engaged with the travellers themselves.

"I have been led to believe that they are only going to be staying until Thursday."

"It's not ideal that they are in the car park, as it's got an impact on parking in that area."

Cllr Brown said that residents had been in touch with him with worries about the car park.

He said: "Obviously they've got concerns. They are worried about the impact on the car park."

"But as long as the travellers are not breaking the law it's what has been agreed for everyone's benefit."

"It's an inconvenience for people who use the car park, but it's sort of out of the way, and doesn't get all the green spaces churned up."

Residents have also raised concerns about the caravans in the car park on social media.

One Facebook commenter said: "Wonder if they will get a parking ticket if they stay longer than three hours."

Local man pleads not guilty to historic child sex offences

A 39-year-old Haverhill man pleaded not guilty to child sex charges on Monday.

Lee Bass, of the town's Lordcroft Lane, appeared at Chelmsford Crown Court accused of 14 charges, some of which involved sexual activity with a child.

His case has been fixed for trial on November 3 this year at Chelmsford Crown Court.

Bass appeared at Chelmsford Magistrates Court on February 11.

Arts centre sells out using discount website

AN event at Haverhill Arts Centre sold out last month – thanks to an offer from discount website Groupon.

The organisers of the LDN Wrestling event on April 2 sold tickets on the site, and the arts centre worked with them. All the tickets were sold.

The centre's arts and leisure manager Nick Keeble said: "This was our first sortie into Groupon. It was a very good idea."

I'm trying out boxing for Cancer Research

A 45-YEAR-OLD man who has never boxed before will be stepping into the ring this summer.

Gavin Horscroft, a refrigeration technician who lives in Haverhill's Cleves Place, will be taking on the challenge to raise money for Cancer Research UK.

He will undergo eight weeks' professional training before taking part in a boxing match at the Cambridge Guildhall on July 25.

Gavin said: "It's very

exciting and very very nerve-racking. I'm fully prepared to be terrified on the night."

Although his training will not start for three weeks, Gavin is already watching his diet and keeping himself active with running and circuit training.

He said: "I am taking it very very seriously. You've got to turn up on the night as fit as you can possibly be."

He is required by the event's organisers, Ultra White Collar Boxing, to raise a minimum of £50 for Cancer Research UK, but says he hopes to raise a lot more than that.

Gavin said: "I think everybody at some point has been touched by cancer."

"I do have a very good friend who has suffered from it. I think we have all been touched."

To sponsor Gavin, visit his JustGiving page, www.justgiving.com/

Trials for new first aid service

IF you suffer any cuts or scrapes next weekend, there's no need to head to Accident and Emergency. A new first aid service is being trialled at Haverhill's Burton Centre in Camps Road.

The service, which is being organised by Cllr Betty McLatchy, will provide out-of-hours first aid treatment for people with minor injuries.

Two volunteers will be available at any one time for between 7pm and 10pm on Thursday 14 May to Saturday 16 May.

One volunteer will provide any medical care that is needed, while the other will take notes.

They will also help patients to decide whether it is necessary to go to hospital, and which hospital would be most appropriate.

Cllr McLatchy said that this kind of service is necessary in Haverhill to prevent people making the long trip to hospital. "I am really looking forward to it because it's something I have been wanting to do for a long time," said Cllr McLatchy.

"If people are really badly injured, of course they should go to hospital, but if there are minor injuries, then we can save people clogging up A and E, and save them travelling."

The service will be called Base, and Cllr McLatchy is hoping that after the trial weekend it will carry on for at least six months.

She hopes that records from the service will demonstrate that more healthcare provision is needed in Haverhill.

Moira Welham, head of community partnership at St Nicholas Hospice Care, which owns the Burton Centre, said: "We are pleased we could offer our premises for the trial out-of-hours first aid service. We are keen for the Burton Centre to be at the heart of the community and are happy to do all we can to ensure Haverhill residents can access the healthcare services they need, whether that is basic first aid treatment as offered by the Base service, or the support the Hospice offers at the Burton Centre to those facing long-term and life-threatening illnesses."

More volunteers are needed. Anyone with first aid qualifications is welcome, but so are those without expertise who can take records.

Cllr McLatchy is also fundraising to make the service viable, and is hoping to hold a market stall to raise money.

To donate towards the service, or to volunteer, call Cllr McLatchy on 01440 714338 or 07934 466930, or email ivor.mclatchy@btinternet.com.

Appeal after wallet stolen from man's pocket

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after a man in his 60s had his wallet stolen in Haverhill last week.

The incident took place around 3.45pm on Wednesday 29 April near the garages behind Montfort Court.

The victim was approached by a man who began talking to him. Then, as he turned to go into his garage, his wallet was taken from his back pocket. The offender removed £60 in cash from the wallet before discarding it.

The man is described as white, in his 40s, around 5ft 10in tall, of medium build, with short dark hair. He was wearing a navy jacket and dark trousers.

Anyone with information is asked to contact PC George Parrott at Haverhill Police Station on 101 quoting reference HH/15/1011, or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Please think again

Open letter to Haverhill Chamber of Commerce:

PLEASE put your efforts into supporting the road improvements Haverhill needs, like the North Western Bypass and improvements in the roads leading to Cambridge and the M11, rather than wasting money on an unnecessary road from the North East Haverhill development to the Coupsals road.

The potential road usage in the Essex direction from the new estate would be only 7.1%, according to a survey commissioned by the county council, hardly an economic benefit to the town. There are no supermarkets or schools or hospitals in that direction. There is no employment or access to town not served by the Chalkstone Way access to the proposed estate.

A more tangible economic and welfare benefit for the people of Haverhill would be the country park, linking with East Town Park. The road would destroy these links, and cut across woodland and a green lane which is an asset of community value we are seeking to preserve. The road would also destroy a local wildlife site when the town is going to be 22 hectares deficient in nature reserves.

A country park, besides improving the wellbeing of the town, also provides significant economic benefits. Think about how many people journey out of town to take children and grandchildren to Abbey Gardens in Bury St Edmunds or Clare Country Park. Our own attractive country park could encourage people to visit Haverhill.

Please, chamber, think again, and look at the benefits to the whole Haverhill community, and let us have a new development which brings with it an improvement to the town, not just roads and housing.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

In a change of format, April's meeting, the last for the present season, took the form of a question time.

Members were invited to submit their gardening queries and these were discussed by three well informed invited speakers.

Sue Kiddy is a professional gardener and with her 'Dig and Design' van is often seen working in local villages.

Alan Bidwell owns The Beeches Nursery in Ashdon and he brought a wealth of knowledge which he imparted with good humour. Finally our own committee member, Harold Gawthorpe, was able to offer a practical approach to problems, based on his many years of experience.

Jean Seager was an admirable chairperson for this interesting evening.

Members had obviously been thinking long and hard about the problems they encountered and this was reflected in the range of questions.

From concerns about overwintering fuchsias, how to look after raspberry canes, growing freesias successfully and what to plant in a large pot for a north facing patio to getting rid of the dreaded Mare's Tail, there were tips and suggestions not only from the panel but from other members.

This all led to a relaxed and enjoyable time and indeed a successful evening, that no doubt will become a regular event.

There are places still available for the evening outing to Spencer's Garden in Great Yeldham on Tuesday May 12.

Transport can be provided.

Please contact Lyn Bobrow on 01223 890598 for more details.

Likewise places are available for the trip to Capel Manor gardens in Enfield.

This is a day trip on Saturday July 4 and again more information is available from Lyn.

Plant sale – as you start to think about stocking the garden for the summer, why not pop along to the Bandstand between 10am and noon on Saturday May 23?

Members will be selling cuttings etc for a fraction of the garden centre prices, with helpful information thrown in for free!

Research park choose landscaper

A CONTRACT has been awarded to the company which will look after the outdoor areas of the Haverhill Research Park.

Jaynic, the park's developer, have chosen Aspect Landscaping Ltd, based in Suffolk's Belchamp St Paul, to maintain the grass areas, formal hedges and woodland areas.

They will also look after the central pond, drainage ditches and hard landscaping including benches, paths and the decking beside the pond.

The park's landscaping has been designed by the award winning Indigo Landscape Architects

Nic Rumsey, managing director of Jaynic, said: "We are delighted to be able to award the contract to Aspect, especially as they are a local company providing jobs for local people and with a strong reputation."

James Warmington of Aspect Landscaping, said: "Maintaining the quality of the landscaping to the highest standards is of vital importance in ensuring a great working environment for the companies who will be considering locating to the research park. We are happy to be associated with this project."

Royal Mail, Please clean our post box

A POST box in Haverhill is still covered in white paint after being targeted by vandals two months ago.

The post box, in the town's Western Avenue, was covered in white paint overnight between February 28 and March 1 this year. The vandals also threw paint at cars, causing £4,000 of damage.

Resident Clare Reeve, who lives on Cambridge Way, said she was told by Royal Mail that the post box would be cleaned up within a few weeks.

She said: "It has been two months now that somebody covered our local post box in paint and even after numerous tweets and emails, the post box still looks like this!"

"We were told it would be put right within a few weeks and obviously it isn't the fault of Royal Mail that this has happened but it makes the area look bad. When you think of how much Royal Mail now charge for stamps and parcel prices, surely they could afford to paint a post box?"

"I wouldn't mind but to say it would be done in a few weeks and still, months later it is like this, is frankly unacceptable.

HANNAH MIRSKY

"I know there is far more going on in the world but this is our little part of the world and we do our bit to keep it nice. why can't they?"

Ronit Wolfson, Royal Mail spokeswoman, said: "We are aware of the vandalism of this postbox and can confirm that cleaning has been arranged and will be carried out as soon as possible. We apologise to customers for the delay in carrying out this work."

Barry Robbins, town councillor for Haverhill North, where the post box is located, said: "Why would anyone throw paint over a post box?"

"The trouble is nobody ever sees anything, there are no culprits. It's so difficult."

Cllr Robbins said he had been to the post office in Haverhill to discuss the issue.

No arrests have been made in connection with the vandalism.

Anyone who knows anything about it is asked to contact Haverhill police station on 101.

Success for hospital charity night

A COUPLE who are fundraising for their daughter's hospital ward have raised over £1,000 in just one evening.

Sara and Dan Nicholls, who live in Haverhill's Hales Barn estate, are fundraising for the C2 ward at Addenbrooke's Hospital, which treats children with leukaemia and other blood conditions.

Their daughter Bella, 1, suffers from neutropenia, a blood condition that makes her susceptible to infection, and has been treated at the ward.

The couple held a charity evening on Friday, April 17, at the Tavern in Birdbrook. They held a raffle with prizes donated by local businesses, auctioned off two paintings, and had a visit from clairvoyant Dave Vye.

Guests were queueing out of the door, and over 120 people attended in total. They raised £1,000 for the C2 ward in a single evening, and their total now stands at £1,768.75.

They are not stopping there. Dan Nicholls is taking on a 16 mile run from Haverhill to Addenbrooke's in August, and they will be collecting in the foyer of Haverhill Sainbury's on Saturday, May 23.

To donate to the C2 ward, visit justgiving.com/sara-nicholls2.

'HONOURED': Lesley Whiting of 1st Stop Recruitment

National role for recruitment expert Lesley

A BUSINESSWOMAN has been given a role on the national executive of the largest network of UK independent recruiters. Lesley Whiting, founder of Haverhill-based 1st Stop Recruitment, will become director of TEAM's East of England operation and will mentor and advise 16 recruitment agencies.

Ms Whiting said: "This is a very exciting time for me and for 1st Stop. It is an honour to be asked to join the national executive and lead other independent recruiters in the East of England."

Simon Garbett, chairman and founder of TEAM, said: "It is testament to Lesley's experience as a recruiter and the fact that she has built a well respected agency in the East of England that we have appointed her to our national executive."

1st Stop is the longest serving recruitment consultancy in Haverhill. It has a staff of six.

Opposition over Chamber's calls for a relief road

RENEWED calls for a road out of the east of Haverhill have met with controversy.

The road has been suggested as a relief route to cope with higher levels of traffic from a proposed development in North East Haverhill.

It would connect Coupals Road in the east of the town with Great Wilsey Farm, on the other side of the proposed development site.

The route was originally suggested as part of the Vision 2031 document for the future development of Haverhill, but had been dismissed.

However, last week Paul Donno, chair of Haverhill Chamber of Commerce renewed calls for the road to be built.

He has said he plans to take up the idea with St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Mr Donno said: "At the moment there's no direct exit for the main industrial areas of the town. As the Chamber of Commerce we have got to make sure that we are helping business in the town.

"The argument is that business goes out to Cambridge, but there's no exit at all to Essex. It's very short sighted."

"We want to keep investment in the town, and the current idea encourages people to live in the town and work in Cambridge."

His calls have angered residents and councillors as the proposed route for the road separates an existing park, East Town Park, from a site they would like to see turned into a country park.

A campaign of 350 residents has supported the country park.

Their leader, Ian Johnson, said: "This road cuts through the woodland, it cuts through a green lane, and it cuts through the driving range, which is designated as an area for nature."

"We were very surprised that the Chamber of Commerce have resurrected it at this late stage."

"It just seems to be absolutely crazy. It doesn't seem to make any sense to us."

Town and county councillor

Tony Brown said: "Only four per cent of traffic from Haverhill actually goes out to Essex. The route would join up with a very narrow road anyway."

"The detrimental effect it would have on the proposed country park outweighs any small benefit."

"We are very worried about it because we have fought so hard to get things other than developments in the town."

Councillors speak out in support of application

HAVERHILL Gymnastics Club's application to convert a business unit into a gymnastics space was discussed at a meeting of Haverhill Town Council's planning committee on Tuesday night. It was supported by councillors, many of whom had links with the popular club.

Mayor of Haverhill Roger Andre said that his granddaughter attended the club, while Cllr Maureen Byrne said her granddaughter was a trainer there, and Cllr Clive Turner said his daughter attends.

Cllr Betty McLatchy: "I think it's a brilliant idea. I'm all for encouraging youngsters to do physical activity."

Cllr Maureen Byrne: "They have been looking for nearly two years for alternative accommodation. I would have liked to see it somewhere else, but if this meets the needs of the club, I think we should be supporting it."

"Their waiting list is substantial. Having it on the industrial estate I suppose is questionable, but I hope that the committee at the borough council will support them."

Cllr Ernie Goody: "They quote the fact that several other units on the estate have had a change of use."

"It would be very difficult for the borough to say no, particularly as that unit has been empty for some time."

The application must now be considered by the planning committee of St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Help us get our own base, pleads gymnastics club

TALENT: Harry White, 8, had to change clubs because Haverhill was not able to offer him sufficient training hours because it didn't have its own premises. His parents are supporting the club's plans

HANNAH MIRSKY

A GYMNASTICS club has submitted a planning application for their own base – and they're asking local families to support them.

Haverhill Gymnastics Club currently operates out of Haverhill Leisure Centre, running 10 hours of training a week for 260 young people.

However, the club has a waiting list of 400 young people, and its organisers have been searching for a dedicated premises for several years.

In December talented 8-year-old gymnast Harry White was forced to switch to a club in Colchester because he needed to train for more hours each week.

His mum Gemma White said: "He's working at a national level, and he needs to be training at least 15 to 20 hours a week. If they could have offered him that at the time, then he definitely would have stayed."

"We're really excited about the plan. It will just be nice for all the other children."

The club have identified a business unit in the Hollands

IN ACTION: Harry on the parallel bars

Road Business Park that has enough open space to be suitable for the facility, and have submitted a planning application to change its use.

The new facility would have a full Olympic set of gymnastic equipment, and would enable the club to provide over thirty hours of training each week.

They are hoping to gain support for the application from the local community.

Coach Kevin Woolcott said: "We are looking for people who are on our waiting list to go online and support it, so we can get as many people backing our application as possible, and make it hard for the council to reject it."

"Gymnastics is something that everybody can get involved with, from an hour a week, to going to competitions."

"It gives children the opportunity to be part of a club at a young age, helping them to set up a healthy lifestyle in later life."

Harry White's family have already sent an email to the council in support of the application.

Gemma said: "The more people that back it, it just goes to show that actually this town does need the facilities."

To view and comment on the application, visit planning.westsuffolk.gov.uk/applications and search for application DC/15/0758/FUL.

APPEAL: From left, social worker Carla Russell, Cheryl Jillions, registered manager and operations director, and Mick Jillions, business services director

'Foster a child and turn a life around'

Carla was fostered as a child and it changed her life. She shares her story in the hopes of encouraging others to consider it

A WOMAN who was fostered as a child is encouraging people to become foster carers – and to go along to an open day to find out more.

Carla was 12 when she went into care. She was initially placed with her two younger brothers, but they were soon split up.

She went through seven foster homes in her first year, including one where she was told she could not shower indoors because foster children were dirty.

She began misbehaving at school, lighting cigarettes, getting into fights, climbing out of windows to escape detention.

Carla said: "About a year later, I went to a foster family, and it was supposed to be an emergency placement lasting three days. The local authority were looking at residential care for me because of my challenging behaviour."

"But they must have seen something in me. They just said they wanted to reassess, and they felt I had been given a bit of a rough deal.

"They just had a really good understanding of why those behaviours were there, in terms of me being an angry child."

"I still live with them today, 10 or 11 years down the line."

Carla, who is now 23, changed schools and started studying for her GCSEs. She ended up going to university and now works for Little Acorns Fostering, an organisation based in Great Wratting.

Carla said: "Without those experiences I wouldn't have known this job was an option. Before I was placed with that foster family, I never imagined I would be able to go to university. It wasn't even on the cards."

Now, she is encouraging more people to sign up as foster carers and change young people's lives by providing stability.

She said: "One of the biggest challenges is recruitment of foster carers. People see a lot of negative media and they don't tend to realise that a child might be different if they are removed from an abusive environment."

"I think anybody who loves working with children or has had any experiences themselves or just wants to help should sign up to find out more. It's such a rewarding experience."

Little Acorns Fostering is holding an open day at their offices at Rook Tree Barn in Great Wratting's Withersfield Road on Saturday, May 9.

Registered manager Cheryl Jillions said: "We want to give everyone the opportunity to come along, chat to our carers and staff and find out what fostering is really about."

To find out more, visit www.littleacornsfostering.com, call 01440 732010 or email enquiries@littleacornsfostering.com.

Launch event at library for new reading programme

HEAD over to Haverhill Library on Tuesday for the launch of a new county-wide guided reading programme.

The project, known as "Brave New Reads", aims to recommend exciting and original writing to readers looking for something new.

The books have been chosen from a longlist of 150 by the Readers' Circle, which includes Haverhill readers.

Tuesday's event will take place at the library from 6.30pm to 8pm. It will offer a chance to learn more about the programme, which will include author events and book clubs. There will be refreshments.

To find out more about the programme, which runs until August 5, visit www.bravenewreads.org.uk.

Children with diabetes get top hospital care

WEST Suffolk has the best hospital care for children with diabetes in all of East Anglia, according to a national audit.

The audit, carried out last year, found that West Suffolk NHS Trust was best at keeping blood sugar levels for diabetes patients aged up to 19 within the normal levels.

This means the hospital is working with children and their families to manage the condition.

"We are really pleased with the result of this audit," said Dr Peter Powell, clinical director for women's and children's services at the hospital.

The hospital currently cares for 164 children and young people with both types of diabetes.

dine out for £10

FEELING hungry? Our ever-popular Dine Out for £10 promotion has returned, in association with our sister paper, the Cambridge News. The offer, which runs until Friday May 29, 2015, gives you the chance to enjoy great value meals out at the host of pubs and restaurants listed below. Whether you fancy a tasty steak, a fabulous fish dish or a vegetarian feast, there will be something for you with our mouth-watering offer.

HOW TO TAKE UP THE OFFER

1 Collect three tokens – of which two MUST be from those being published regularly in the Cambridge News.

The third can also be from the News, or taken from this newspaper. Alternatively, visit cambridge-news.co.uk/food-and-drink to print off a bonus token. You'll also find an interactive map guide to the venues taking part, including the times and days of the week when the offer is valid.

2 Phone to book a place at your chosen restaurant, stating that you wish to take advantage of the 'Dine Out for £10' offer. Please note, the venues are running the offer at certain times and days of the week.

3 Present your tokens as you order your food. Three tokens entitle two people to

Students open revamped store

COLLEGE pupils took centre stage yesterday as they officially opened a new Co-operative store in Linton.

A group of students from Linton Village College cut the ribbon at the new look High Street shop after an investment of £330,000 was made to transform the store.

The shop closed on April 18 to embark on the refurbishment.

The store now has an enhanced in-store bakery range and a focus on fresh, healthy foods and essentials.

Store manager Naomi Brown said: "We are delighted to have made such a significant investment in our Linton store and to have a fantastic new-look store with which to serve the community."

"It is an exciting time for the whole team."

The shop also has a community pioneer, Nick Mele, who will work to foster involvement in community activities.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Care improves for Parkinson's

IMPROVEMENTS have been made in care for Parkinson's patients at West Suffolk Hospital.

Six months ago the hospital appointed its first ever Parkinson's clinical nurse specialist, Aimee Johnson.

She has helped introduce Parkinson's link nurses on every ward, and resource bags about the illness.

She has also used charitable funds to buy small alarm clocks to remind staff exactly when patients need to take their medication.

Ms Johnson is also liaising with GPs, running clinics and has a community caseload.

She said: "Since I started in post, we have been working hard to improve the care patients who have Parkinson's receive when they are admitted to hospital for another condition."

History talk on railway in town

THE Haverhill Family History Group is hosting a talk on the coming of the railway to Haverhill North station, which took place 150 years ago.

The speaker will be Mike Stanbury, museum curator at the East Anglian Railway Museum and also Secretary of the National Railway Heritage Awards.

The meeting will take place at 7.30pm on Thursday, May 14 in the Old Independent Church Hall in Haverhill's Hamlet Road.

As well as the talk, there will be an informal display of information about the railway provided by the Haverhill Local History Group.

The organisers also hope to have a model of Haverhill North station on display.

Non-members who have an interest in local rail history are welcome, and tickets for them cost £2.50, including complimentary tea or coffee.

Call 01440 702638 for more information.

Road closes for 7 weeks

WORK on gas mains will close a village main road for seven weeks this summer.

Cavendish Road in Clare will be closed from the junction with Church Street to the junction with Harp Lane from mid-July.

The closure is necessary for engineers to replace half a kilometre of iron gas mains with hardwearing plastic pipes.

The works will also cause traffic management measures to be put in place in the village's Church Lane for three weeks in August.

HANNAH MIRSKY

The details of these are being confirmed with the Highways Agency, but they are likely to involve temporary traffic lights.

Cavendish Road will be maintained for pedestrians during the works, and businesses will be open as usual.

National Grid have organised a meeting at Clare village hall so that residents can find out more.

It will take place at 7pm on Tuesday, June 2, at Clare Town Hall.

It will give those attending a chance to hear more about the works, and to raise any queries.

National Grid will be visiting local businesses over the coming days to discuss the works.

Businesses may be eligible for compensation for loss of business under the Gas Regulations 1996.

The following diversion route will be in place for drivers while Cavendish Road is closed: A1092 towards Long Melford, A134 towards Bury St Edmunds, A1302, A143 towards Haverhill, A1017, and then the A1092 towards Clare.

Vince Doggett of National Grid said: "We have explored every option but unfortunately a road closure of Cavendish Road in this case is unavoidable."

Call National Grid on 0800 096 5678 to find out more. Businesses can visit www.nationalgrid.com/uk/gas.

STP: Your friendly stationery supplier

STP STATIONERY has had a retail shop in Haverhill for over 30 years – that's twice as long as Poundland, Tesco and WH Smith collectively have been in town! The expert and friendly sales team is on hand to find the right product for you, and has recently been improved by taking on some new staff.

It has a wide range of stationery products in store as well as a catalogue of items that can be ordered in for next day delivery, so whether you are a business, home worker or a student, STP can cater for all your requirements. Many products are also available in smaller quantities – so you do not need to purchase a whole pack of labels, paper or envelopes, for example. Local businesses and tradesmen can drop in their business cards to enter the monthly prize draw: the current prize is a quality leather briefcase worth more than £100.

At STP, they have the majority of the needs for college students and also for students studying for their GCSEs and A-levels covered. This includes canvases in three popular sizes, high quality black and white sketch books, clear pencil cases for exam use, a full range of pens, pencils and coloured pencils, along with erasers, rulers, sharpeners, calculators, geometry sets and revision kits. Products for younger children including "ShowMe" drywipe boards, and accessories are also stocked.

So if you're looking for anything from a pen to a notebook computer please support your local stationery and office supplies retailer.

Services on offer include:

■ Selection of arts, crafts, scrapbooking and card making.

■ Full range of inkjet and toner cartridges available in stock or to order.

■ STP copy service and fast in-house colour printing and copying from your original artwork or USB memory stick.

You can also order personalised rubber stamps and send or receive faxes.

They also offer a finishing service including laminating and binding. Letterheads and business cards along with flyers and personalised business gifts can all be ordered in store.

As well as stock of printers (including multifunction printers), they also stock a full range of leads and connectors, replacement mice and keyboards (including gaming products).

Computer upgrades and components are also available onsite.

the GUIDE

UB40, Cambridge Corn Exchange, Tuesday, May 12 at 7.30pm. Tickets £32.50-£35 from (01223) 357851 / cornex.co.uk.

TO be clear, the UB40 coming to Cambridge Corn Exchange this time around consider themselves the "official" UB40. Despite the fact they don't have founder member Ali Campbell in their ranks any more as he split off to form UB40 'the rivals' or sometimes known as 'reunited' alongside Astro and Micky Virtue. Yes, there have been legal battles over the name, but neither side are legally allowed to claim it as their own because technically it's the term for the unemployment benefit form. You can get all the juicy details in our interview with Ali from last year at Cambridge-news.co.uk/whatson.

Still with us? This UB40 is made up of Robin Campbell on guitars and vocals, Brian Travers on sax, Earl Falconer on bass guitar, drummer James Brown, percussionist Norman Hassan and Duncan Campbell, also on vocals.

Formed in Birmingham in 1978, the band went on to be nominated for BRIT and Grammy Awards and sold more than 70 million records, including wedding disco favourite, Red Red Wine and their cover of I Got You Babe.

Ali eventually left the band in 2008 after three decades, citing managerial disputes, and that's when he was replaced by his brother Duncan and the feuding began. The pair still aren't speaking... however, this set still play all the old hits.

The last time the "world's bestselling" reggae band performed in Cambridge actually, there were a number of complaints that the gig was too loud, so loud in fact it was "altering heart rhythms" and made one fan's ears bleed.

We're assuming that was a one off – ear plugs at the ready – and tickets are almost sold out, so get in there quick.

Colm Tóibín: one-off event for Cambridge

Colm Tóibín, Cambridge Literary Festival: Palmerston Room, Wednesday, May 20 at 6.30pm. Tickets £9-£12 from (01223) 300085 / cambridgeliteraryfestival.com.

Irish novelist and critic Colm Tóibín, pictured left, is the star of a one-off event at the Palmerston Room.

It will be his debut performance in the city and a chance to hear him talk about his two latest books, the Folio Prize shortlisted novel Nora Webster, and his biography of American poet Elizabeth Bishop, aptly called On Elizabeth Bishop.

Be transported to Ireland in the midst of "political flux" during the 1960s as Tóibín details the life of middle-aged widow and mum of four Nora.

Set in his hometown of Enniscorthy, County Wexford, it is a story of grief, identity, pain and trying to heal, we're told it's a slow burn book of the highest order.

Although, as The Independent points out, "By the end of the book Nora's beginning to emerge from the grief that's engulfed her but there's no sense that her journey towards happiness should be remotely uplifting for us."

On Elizabeth is set to be more inspirational, focussed on one of Tóibín's literary heroines – he has been reading Elizabeth Bishop's poetry for 40 years, but sadly never met her. In the book he compares their respective relationships with home, family, belonging and the need to write.

ROUND UP

■ Music:

"The King of Irish roots music", Christy Moore is known for speaking his mind when it comes to politics and for being very popular on home turf. He's also performed with Coldplay. Cambridge Corn Exchange, Thursday, May 14 at 8pm. Tickets (£32.50-£36) are almost all sold out. (01223) 357851 / cornex.co.uk

■ Comedy:

He doesn't have a reputation for being particularly pleasant (Dara O'Briain publicly called him "bitter" and "delusional" after he made derogatory comments about "Mock the Week" and female comedians), but Andrew Lawrence is still considered funny.

Perhaps skip his show, "Reasons To Kill Yourself", if you're not right-wing though.

Cambridge Junction, Friday at 8pm. Tickets, £14, available from (01223) 511511 / junction.co.uk.

■ Theatre:

You don't have to have read James Joyce's Ulysses to enjoy this production, but it might help a little.

The first complete showing of Bloominauschwitz (previewed at last year's Hotbed Festival) is taking place at Cambridge Junction.

Devised by Menagerie Theatre Company and performed by Patrick Morris, it is a brand new piece that sets out to explore themes of memory, identity and how we find ourselves linked inextricably to history.

You will be taken on a journey to re-discover a Jewish heritage.

Be ready to engage your imagination.

Bloominauschwitz, Cambridge Junction, Thursday, May 14 at 4pm and 7.30pm. Tickets £12 from (01223) 511511 / junction.co.uk.

Here comes that hungry tiger...

The Tiger Who Came to Tea, Cambridge Arts Theatre, May 10-13, Sunday. 1.30pm & 3.30pm; Mon-Wed, 10.30am & 1.30pm. Tickets £12.50 from (01223) 503333 / cambridgeartstheatre.com

GRRR! Who hasn't read Judith Kerr's classic storybook, The Tiger Who Came To Tea?

It would be rather strange to not have the author's colourful illustrations of a bright orange tiger sipping tea, etched into your memories – whether you read it to your children, or you remember it being read to you before bedtime aged 5.

The book, first published in 1968, is in the same league as The Very Hungry Caterpillar in terms of lasting appeal, and is one of the bestselling children's books of all time.

Inspired by a trip to the zoo with her 3-year-old daughter, Kerr's story follows a very hungry, very thirsty talking tiger who arrives on Sophie's doorstep, just as she and her mother are sitting down for tea and cake.

Well, they can't just leave him moping on the doorstep, can they? What ensues is charmingly calamitous, but you probably already know that.

Suitable for over 3s (and let's be fair, imaginative grown-ups), this adaptation at Cambridge Arts Theatre, is fresh from a highly successful run in the West End.

The Guardian reckons the book is still far better, saying: "The show seems to miss the feel of the original story."

"The book is funny because it is so wonderfully matter-of-fact about what happens, while here there are endless double-takes and OTT antics."

However, it is a classic for a reason. Writer and director David Wood still injects it with good old sing-a-longs, magic and lots of fun.

Kerr's story follows a very hungry, very thirsty talking tiger who arrives on Sophie's doorstep, just as she and her mother are sitting down for tea and cake

■ Phil Lynott dead-ringer Wayne Ellis and Limehouse Lizzy continue to keep the spirit of Celtic rock icon Philip Lynott and his band Thin Lizzy alive tomorrow at 8pm. Expect realistic renditions of all the favourites (Whiskey in the Jar, The Boys are Back in Town and Sarah) plus an extra tribute to the ex-Thin Lizzy guitarist and world renowned solo artist Gary Moore.

■ The 'Bearded Busker' Alton Wahlberg comes to town on Saturday at 7.30pm for an Acoustic Night. It will be a showcase of music hosted by Wahlberg, a singer/song writer from Suffolk who entertains his audiences both in theatres, and on the street, with his blend of folk/indie tunes. Also in on the act are the best of local up-and-coming performers Dale Bennett, Curtis Cronin and Josh Hurrell.

■ Haverhill Silver Band returns to the Arts Centre with Brass Requests in their first solo concert of 2015 with a programme chosen by Friends of the Band. Expect the unexpected in this evening of musical entertainment on Sunday at 7.30pm.

■ Voldemort, sorry, Ralph Fiennes takes centre stage in the National Theatre's live screening of Man and Superman. George Bernard Shaw's play has been described as a romantic comedy, an epic fairytale and a fiery philosophical debate. Phew! It would sound exhausting were it not for the star-laden reviews. May 11 at 7.30pm. It is an adaptation of Irène Némirovsky novel about a French woman and a Nazi soldier who fall in love during the German Occupation and stars man of the moment Matthias Schoenaerts (A Little Chaos, Far From The Madding Crowd) Michelle Williams and the always excellent Kristin Scott Thomas.

■ Good stuff coming up includes The Pirates of Penzance (May 19), a live broadcast by English National Opera, the charming children's show The Tap Dancing Mermaid (May 27), and the possibly not so charming but always funny – and clean – Comedy Club 4 Kids (May 28).

Glyn Hopkin now open

A BESPOKE-built multi-purpose dealership by the south-east's dealer group, Glyn Hopkin, is now open, increasing the choice of brands available to motorists across Cambridgeshire.

Located just behind the previous Nissan site on Newmarket Road, the all-new showrooms house models from Nissan, Fiat and Jeep.

Nissan customers benefit from a newly built, larger showroom with more sophisticated aftersales facilities, as well as extensive customer parking. The 350m² facility is one of the first to feature Nissan's 'New Retail Concept', which brings an invigorating new visual identity to the showroom and offering customers an interactive, premium showroom experience. The showroom is one of very few in the UK to specialise in Nismo, Nissan's specialist performance division.

OPEN: Glyn Hopkin – Nissan, Fiat and Jeep dealership

The new site also contains a brand-new 380m² dual-purpose showroom that is home to Fiat and Jeep sales and aftersales, providing the full range of brand new Fiat and Jeep vehicles – including the all-new Jeep Renegade and all-new Fiat 500X crossover, both on sale now.

The state-of-the-art facilities more than doubles the number of service bays previously available to 10, as well as a purpose-built

MOT bay. Customers in Cambridge now also have access to more than 2,500 quality used vehicles from across Glyn Hopkin's stock. There are more demonstrator cars on offer for test drives and increased numbers of courtesy cars to further enhance the customer experience.

Fraser Cohen, managing director at Glyn Hopkin, said: "The development of our presence in Cambridgeshire was the most natural progression for Glyn Hopkin. The new state-of-the-art facilities are a great way to firmly establish ourselves in the county, though it's the commitment that Glyn Hopkin has to providing customers with first-rate sales and aftersales services that will cement our reputation as the first-stop for motoring needs."

The acquisition and redevelopment of Nissan Cambridge by Glyn Hopkin means that around 30 members of staff are now operating at the new dealership across the three brands, adding to the headcount at Glyn Hopkin, which recently celebrated reaching a 600-employee milestone.

Glyn Hopkin is one of the UK's largest volume Nissan dealer groups with 13 dealerships. The group's very first dealership, Nissan Romford, opened in January 1993.

To find out more, visit the showroom on 699 Newmarket Road, CB5 8SQ from 8.30am to 6pm Monday to Saturday and 10am to 5pm on Sunday, call (01223) 633109, or visit GlynHopkin.com.

CAM: Saturday event

Get 2-wheel training

THE Cambridge Advanced Motorcyclists (CAM) is running a special promotion on Saturday, May 9, where observers (trainers), will take riders out on a free one-to-one taster ride for 30 minutes, and then provide feedback on their skills and suggest ways that they could improve or enjoy their riding more.

"Obviously we are looking for new members and so for those riders that sign up to do the full IAM Skill for Life training for £149, then CAM will contribute £30, reducing the cost to £119," says organiser Barry Dickinson. "It's an offer not to be missed!"

Support will be provided by the Cambridgeshire Police BikeSafe team with their "BikeSafe" trailer so that you can chat or sign up to their "BikeSafe" course.

Clean-Up Time

With Simon Walters

This week: Leather

■ Leather seats are great but can often take a lot of maintenance.

Jean dye transfer and ingrained dirt are some of the most common problems people face.

■ Less can often be more when cleaning leather, so try not to use a generic leather cleaner but a specific car leather care product and maybe a complementing soft leather brush to work the dirt from the seats safely.

■ Rubbing too hard or using a product that is too strong can have permanent consequences that will be costly to repair – if in doubt call a professional. More at cambridgeconcours.com.

Paffett thrilled to be back on the podium

GARY Paffett stepped on to the DTM podium for the first time since June 2013 after finishing third in the second of the two races at Hockenheim during the opening weekend of this year's campaign. The Haverhill driver, 34, produced an incredible drive to finish behind Audi winner Mattias Ekström and Edoardo Mortara. Paffett had qualified in eighth but was relegated to 23rd place for a rule violation. But despite the tricky weather, Paffett went on a charge in his Mercedes AMG C63, and, helped by coming in early to change to wet weather tyres, he was able to enjoy the 33rd podium of his DTM career. It was a superb way to finish the weekend for the 2005 champion, who managed only just over half the distance in race one, which was won by Audi's Jamie Green. "What a race that was!" said Paffett. "We had a really good car that was unbelievably fast in the rain. In these conditions, it's easy to make mistakes but the team did a fantastic job, and the race went perfectly for me."

Pushing hard: Gary Paffett on his way to third place in his Euronics Mercedes AMG C63 at Hockenheim

Rovers sign off with away loss

FOUR defensive errors led to Haverhill Rovers suffering a 4-1 defeat in their final game of the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division season away to Diss Town. The hosts went ahead in the eighth minute, with Liam Brown heading a cross-field ball from the right wing into the danger area. The ball bounced as the away defence looked on, and Joel Watts pounced to ghost in and net with a first time side-foot finish. But the match was all square four minutes later. Perry Moody won the ball in his own half and his pass, intended for Tyrone Alleyne, led to defender Aaron Taylor rushing his attempted clearance and shinning it over goalkeeper Liam Hembling on 25 yards out. Gorleston restored their lead with a 20th minute goal, Thomas Daniels was not closed down quickly enough as he broke forward and, as he went from the left towards the centre of the area across its edge, his low 20-yard effort went back the other way and gave Graham Smith no chance of a save. The second half saw Rovers fielding five under-18 players following a double substitution at half time which saw Ollie Stevenson and Rhys Shulver come on. Although some nice football was being played, there was no real penetration in the final third. However, substitute Stevenson's 72nd minute effort from Marc Abbott's ball across the edge of the six yard box brought a good save from Hembling. Two lapses on 82 and 87 minutes were punished by the home side to perhaps make the win seem more comfortable than it was.

A mistake by Nick Wilderspin saw Watts get ahead of the Smith to the loose ball and square it for sub Bradley Hough to score. Then a square ball by Will Gardner hit the back of a Gorleston player's legs 30 yards out and two quick passes finished with Keegan Middleton releasing Hough to finish. Rovers Youth are looking for a treasurer and commercial officer to support the committee in recording financial information and collection of subscription, along with sourcing of commercial sponsorship for all youth teams. Applicants should send CVs and a covering letter to football development officer Peter Betts at bettsyhaverhillrovers@hotmail.co.uk, or contact club secretary Julie Ankers on 07782 120354 for more information about the position.

Wratting end second after home draw

KIERNAN Harding and George Jenkinson ensured West Wratting under-15s finished as runners-up in 15A of the Cambridge & District Colts League. Harding fired in the first goal for Wratting from a Daniel Cordwell flick-on in their final game of the season at home to Royston Town and they held that lead at half time. But Royston hit back five minutes into the second half and it took some good saves from Charlie Mitchison to keep them out. Wratting retook the lead 12 minutes into the second half when Aiden Comer played in Jenkinson to run and fire low past the goalkeeper. It ended 2-2 though as Royston equalised in added time, but Wratting still ended the season with a run of 17 games unbeaten. Dillon Collier and Cameron Reid got two apiece as Haverhill Rovers Red drew 4-4 with Fulbourn Falcons in 9v9 Rangers. Gabriel Mason bagged a brace for Aztecs White under-11s, but they were edged out 4-3 by Cambridge Celts Blue in Cambridgeshire Mini Soccer League 11A. Mason got both of his in the first half, with Ollie Santry adding their other after the break.
